12 Queen Street, Bollington, Macclesfield, SK10 5PS

This is a surprising home that has more to offer than initially meets the eye. Having an attractive traditional two storey frontage with sash windows, the accommodation within is set out on three floors, a benefit from the ground at the rear being at a lower level than the front. This allows for a separate lounge, dining room and kitchen, and then there are two well proportioned bedrooms at first floor level.

The house is presented and furnished in an attractive modern manner which incorporates inherent features of the cottage such as the exposed stonework in the dining room.

Accessible from a doorway at lower ground floor level there is a lovely south facing private rear courtyard well enclosed by stone walls. Double gates to this leading from the adjacent Pool Bank car park give the option for private off road parking within the courtyard if required.

One of the oldest parts of Bollington and part of the conservation area, Queen Street is a picturesque cobbled side street with stone built houses adjoining woodland and Sowcar Brook. In addition to its quiet backwater setting is the convenience of being within a short walk of many village amenities including shops for everyday needs, recreation parks and a number of pubs and restaurants. Primary schools, a library, and a leisure centre can also be found within easy reach. Walks can be taken from the property into the beautiful countryside that surrounds Bollington, with easy access to the Macclesfield Canal.
